

MAY 14 1961

Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA-RDP75

FOIAb3b

OFFBEAT WASHINGTON

CPYRGHT

After the fiasco of the Cuban invasion one of the first predictions was that there would be a Republican war cry for the scalp of Richard M. Bissell, the CIA official in charge of the operation. There wasn't, and there is not likely to be. The reason: Under the Eisenhower administration, Mr. Bissell had a major hand in the U-2 flights, one of the most successful espionage operations in history—while it lasted.